RANDOLPH

High School Graduating Has Begun—Baccalaureate Sunday.

The graduation exercises for the week began with the baccalaureate exercises on Sunday night when Music hall was filled with the friends of the class. The high school glee club furnished the music under the direction of the musical instructor, Miss Lucile DeReynolds. Previous to the entrance of the class, four young ladies bearing hoops, decorated with flowers and the colors, were escorted by two ushers to the place assigned the class and stood forming an arch, under which the members of the class passed on their march to their seats, when the young ladies retired. Upon the stage were seated Prin. E. G. Ham, and Rev. M. S. O'Donnell, who conducted the service, reading a part of the fifth chapter of Matthew, containing the Sermon on the Mount, after which he read the prayer for the occasion. Following a selection by the choir, he gave a very fine address, taking his text from Isaiah 61: 1-2. The address was largely a patriotic one, as his topic was "Patriotism," and it was given in an earnest and enthusiastic manner, and was heartily enjoyed by those present.
